

Architect Develops Course To Help Homeowners Ease Into Remodeling

“Create Your Dream Home...The Easy Way!” is a new course being offered through the continuing education programs at various Long Island locations this spring. Award-winning architect Paul J. Pellicani, who in past years taught “Ask The Architect,” has developed this new course to instill confidence in homeowners who are contemplating remodeling their home. The seminar covers each phase of home renovation in detail, including the process, costs, and time a project may entail, and simplifies information about such things as design, blueprints, building permits, zoning variances and home renovation tax incentives. Pellicani’s mission is that by evening’s end, homeowners feel at ease with the idea of moving forward with their plans to remodel.

The next seminar is scheduled for Thursday, April 12, 7-9 p.m. at Hauppauge High School. For more information about the seminar, or to reach the offices of Paul J. Pellicani, call 516-609-3410.

Paul J. Pellicani is an award-winning Long Island based architect with 20 years of experience in residential, commercial and municipal-projects. He has written several articles on the subject of design and renovation and has been a featured guest speaker at such events as the Suffolk County Home Improvement Show and the Long Island Real Estate Investors Association Conference.