Architect's Course Helps Homeowners Navigate the Remodeling Process

'Create Your Dream Home...The Easy Way' coming to:
Commack, Manhasset, Port Washington and Dix Hills

Glen Head, NY, February 12, 2008 – "Create Your Dream Home...the Easy Way," a course developed by Glen Head, LI-based architect Paul Pellicani, is being offered through the continuing educations programs at various Long Island locations, including Commack, Manhasset, Port Washington and Dix Hills.

Pellicani, who in past years taught "Ask the Architect," introduced this new course to instill confidence in homeowners who are contemplating remodeling their homes. The seminar covers each phase of home renovation in detail, including the process, costs and time a project may entail, and simplifies information about such things as design, blueprints, building permits, zoning variances and home renovation tax incentives. It is Pellicani's objective that by evening's end, homeowners feel equipped with the key tips and information required to move solidly ahead with a building or remodeling project.

Upcoming "Create Your Dream Home" Seminars:
